ALMA MATER

Hail to thee, O Euclid High School,
To thy name all praise we sing.
Happy days of youthful pleasure,
Learning, living life so dear.
Our hearts fill with gratitude
For all that is to be . . .
Alma Mater, Euclid High School,
All our praise we bring to thee.

Where the blue of Erie's waters
Casts the sun's bright golden rays,
There all Euclid's sons and daughters
Sing the joys of student days.
If after days be dark and drear
And storms of life draw nigh,
The memories of our friendships here
Will lift our hearts to Euclid High.

As a fire capriciously
brightens and abandons to shadows the circle
of ground surrounding it, something illumines and
darkens a person's face;

something that speaks with a raised eyebrow, a blank stare, or a smile. This is the visible part of character — expression.

In expressions we read the multitude of moods and emotions of others . . .

Joy wells from the soul's core and gently overflows in contentment or rushes forth splashing and swirling into laughter.

Hiding in the commonplace,
appearing suddenly in a lightness of step or an esoteric smile, love is an urchin taunting, giggling, and shoving its way to the center of regard.

With an electric feeling so sensitive to the heart's thud, anxiety stops the breath and hesitates on the brink of frustration that gnaws at the mind
like a rat nibbling at crumbs in a dark corner, ready to flare demon-like into the raw, red spirit of anger.

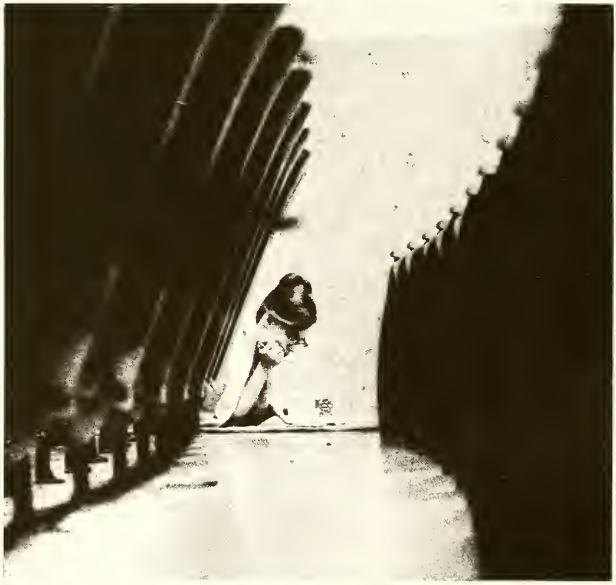
2500

Loneliness falls like a grey, sea-side fog or sits on a swing in an empty playground and gambols in the recesses of the mind.



It leaves a silent emptiness that is soon filled with thought; in lonely thought, in the absence of living things, objects begin to live, and even the silence has a soul.

Academic expression is the smile, frown, or wry face of the mind. Choosing between a poem and a chemical equation, one discovers his character.

Some minds live like quiet hermits with the lights from their hovels shining far away in the forest's gloom; others gaily blare out like a Salvation Army band. All are essentially individuals, for each wears a different expression.

Expression serves as a means of communication among men. In revealing joy, anger, or sorrow, it arouses love, frustration, and pity. It leads to popularity or disfavor, achievement or failure. Expression does not confine itself to a code of law, but follows a natural inclination to wander about the mind and soul like an explorer discovering something new every instant and writing of his discovery on a person's visage or stray thought.

BOX ON EAST
KEEP
BOTH

For a moment suspend your steady journey into the future. Look behind you. Standing along your path in your own footsteps are a multitude of old friends. They stand close to you or are scarcely discernible in the haze of distance. You have seen them before in the halls, in class, or at parties. You've known some longer than others, and a few have been your "best friends."

Sometimes you were alone with a friend. Together, you chuckled or laughed loudly. When all was a huge, lonely silence, you talked for a long time about college, new plans, someone else, or yourself. You argued stubbornly, each agitated at the other's obstinance; yet, it was so important to have your ideas accepted. Perhaps you didn't talk at all. Have you ever just been with someone without speaking, with silence pulling your thoughts together?

At times you were completely alone, and the silence flushed through your mind while you thought of the people who had influenced you. As their faces came to your mind with the football field or the stage or a blackboard in the background, you realized what they meant to you, and you tried to imagine what the loneliness without them would be like. Next year you won't see them at school. Most of them will be lost to you in the making of your future. This pivot between yesterday and tomorrow distinguishes you and puts respect into the word "Senior." This is the privilege of being a Senior.

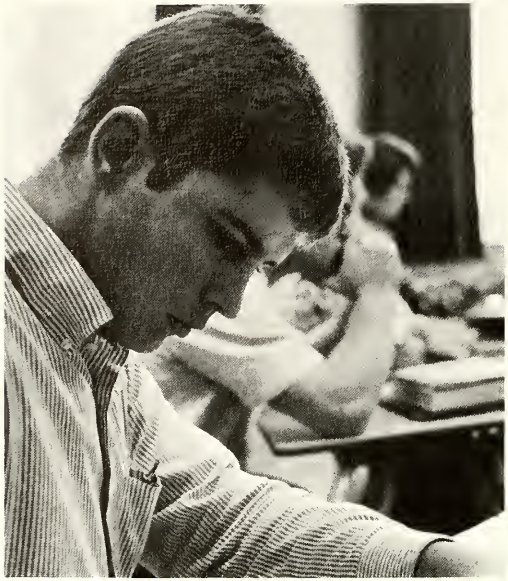
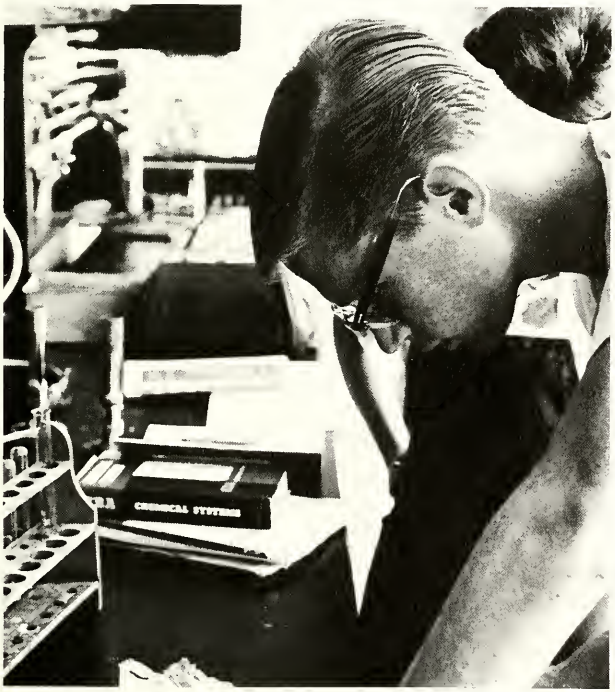
ACADEMICS





We say that every man has a talent for something; he is talented in a certain field, for he expresses himself best in that field. Because of the difference in men's talents, different areas of study have developed. Men look at the universe with dissimilar eyes; they probe for knowledge with different tools. A blind man lacks sight, but his ears and fingers possess sensitivity impossible to one whose vision is perfect.

Although the modes of expression differ between two men, these men need not study unlike material. It is not what a man studies, but how he studies that distinguishes one subject from another. Both Michelson and Wordsworth examined the properties of light, but Wordsworth expressed himself in poetry and Michelson in mathematical equations. No gap exists between physics and poetry except the gap between mental attitudes toward the subject matter. Knowledge, like color, is tempered by its surroundings, and, but for the shadings created by men's minds, could be resolved into a simple statement of truth.

The Renaissance man strove to express himself well in all subjects. Francis Bacon said, "I have taken all knowledge to be my province." But knowledge today is of a different sort, for it has been expanded and specialized until each segment is a body in itself. One man cannot fit comfortably into all parts of existing knowledge. The gap between science and poetry has become a gulf which one mind cannot span. To make an appreciable contribution to humanity, man must concentrate on developing his understanding of the subjects which best suit his talents.

Dr. Lester E. Angene, Superintendent of Schools.

Essential to education and life itself is the expression of ideas, thoughts, and feelings. Through response to our environment, i.e., through expression we grow individually and only through expression can we communicate. Hence, expression becomes a primary means as well as a fundamental end of education.

Expression fulfills a need to respond, evolves into a purpose for response, requires an organization of content and a form or structure which makes the relationships of ideas, facts, and feelings which we see effectively communicable to others. We, therefore, seek something worth saying, a significant content, a valid purpose for expression, and a responsive audience.

Expression requires freedom but also implies responsibility for fulfilling its purposes. Through expression we discover our world, make our world, make sense of it and thereby find ourselves. Let's become conversant with the tool's true play.

Lester E. Angene
Superintendent of Schools

Dr. Sportoco DiBiasio, Director of Secondary Education.

School Board (L to R) Row 1: Mrs. Mary King, Mr. Paul Totten. Row 2: Mr. William Tomko, Mr. Dale Mansperger, Mr. Loyal Luikart.

Euclid Senior High School has attempted to give you the practical knowledge, the positive attitudes and skillful habits for complete expression so that you can "press out" to the very limits of your capabilities. You are bound only in communication by the ability of expression through words; you are bound only in living a full life by expression through thought; you are bound only in service by expression through deeds; and you are bound only in creativity by your willingness for self-expression. Our world knows no bounds for the student who is willing to expend the time and energy to "reach for a star." Euclid is ready to express through you its hopes for the future. Many good wishes go with you as you make this expression a good "impression" on the world.

Sincerely yours,
Spartoco DiBiasio
Assistant Superintendent-Secondary

Mrs. Harriet Sheats, Assistant Principal.

Dr. Jerry Bergem, Assistant Principal.

Dr. James Miller, Assistant Principal.

PRINCIPALS

Euclid's assistant principals are ubiquitous. Offices in the administrative corridor are not large enough to contain the amount of activity necessary to guide 3,000 high school students. Mrs. Sheats is usually found surrounded by catalogues and college-bound upperclassmen. Mr. Wiley, Dr. Bergem, and Dr. Miller are seen dashing from one room to another as they observe and help to coordinate the various activities, classes, and organizations that are vital to the students school life.

Mr. William A. Hunter, Principal.

Each student can find expression for his talents in a variety of courses and extra-curricular activities. One can express himself in many ways. For some it comes through writing, for others through speech or drama. Fine arts, both music and art, are rewarding for some. Athletic participation, publications work, or club leadership occupy others.

I hope that each senior has taken full advantage of the many opportunities for expression and personal fulfillment. As you leave high school, may you continue this development and seek even more ways to find expression for your individual talents. Our best wishes go with you always.

William A. Hunter
Principal

Mr. George Wiley, Assistant Principal.

DEANS AND COUNSELORS

Scattered along the office corridor, twelve small offices form the disciplinary center of E.H.S. Once this was only the home of the cut slip and the dreaded office detention. Now students bring not only tangled schedules and faculty-bruised egos through the alphabetized doors, but money for prom bids and problems from home as well. Here someone counsels the student as a distinct personality rather than a member of the class.

Lab — workshop for the scientific mind

SCIENCE

Contemplating the physical world, then explaining and defining what is observed constitutes the work of a scientist. He views a phenomenon. Unable to understand it, he wonders. He uses his background, logic, and experimentation to develop a theory through which the phenomenon can be understood. The validity of his theory is tested through further experimentation.

Our science department utilizes the student's curiosity, providing him with labs and texts with which it can be satisfied. His texts provide him with necessary background, but only in the lab does he become part of what he studies. There he functions as a scientist, applying past knowledge and logic in order to give meaning to his observations. Thus he learns the fundamentals of science, scientific process, and knowledge.

MATH

Even the concept of "how many?" presented a difficult barrier to the intellect of primitive man. We should be as grateful to the prehistoric genius who gave meaning to numbers over three as we are to Newton for the invention of the calculus. Today we have refined and qualified "how many?" in many unique ways, and with an air of sophistication, we awkwardly scratch through the intellectual barriers these "new" problems present. We haven't yet solved primitive man's puzzle completely, but we have greatly surpassed him in knowledge. Through the federal grant for computer time at Case, our math department acquaints the students with the present and the future means of journeying further into this problem. Our math courses provide them with a knowledge not only sufficient for solving today's problems, but also tomorrow's.

SOCIAL STUDIES

The realm of a social studies course extends not only to an examination of historical facts; it also dabbles in a survey of human nature. Teddy Roosevelt's abounding friendliness led him to refer to Germany's leader as "My friend, Bill the Kaiser," and Taft not only pitched the first major league ball but was the first president to get stuck in a bath tub. Students learn of Andrew Jackson's wild wedding and his pipe-smoking wife, thus gaining further insight into the man. The background proves to be colorful as events and people are thrown into the boiling pot of history. Found in the steam from the pot is Today, a mixture of controversy, space flights, scandals, and Nobel Prizes that highlighted a major election.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

Between the object and the word lies a vast land of ambiguity. Between the sound and the meaning stands a wall of misconception. The language teacher gives shape and clarity to a torrent of nebulous sound. He says the word and repeats it, molds the sound and repeats it, illustrates the object and repeats it. Film texts and tapes tirelessly echo the lesson. Eventually repetition yields to originality as the student attempts to master another form of expression. The language teacher correlates object and word, fuses sound and meaning, until the four become one and the student comprehends.

ENGLISH

From a strange mixture of grammar and e.e. cummings, Henrik Ibsen and William Blake, the English department labors to create sensitivity in a generation solidly grounded in proof only by existence. English is now taught as an art rather than a foreign language. The "how" of sentence structure has yielded to the "why" of interpretation, and grammar is secondary to effect. By listening to recordings, related suites or operas, and viewing the literary movies available today, students resurrect literature from dusty manuscripts and apply it to the present situation and culture. The variety of topics, ranging from Greek tragedy to contemporary "beat poetry," provides something interesting for even the most lethargic student, transforming English from a dry, mental exercise to a flexible composite where each person can find an expression of himself.

BUSINESS

Today's business world includes the insurance executive and the clerical assistant alike and provides a range of occupations which accommodates a large variety of interests. In order to qualify for active participation, students must prepare to meet the demands of an accelerated modern society and a highly competitive field of work. The training begins in the classroom where economics, keypunch machines, and the foreign code of shorthand loom as obstacles which must be overcome. Through a student secretary program and activities such as field trips which undertake a day's work in a department store, the student becomes more aware of the actual work involved in his profession. Geared especially for student benefit is the distributive education program in which employment provides practical experience.

Future secretaries are guided by Mr. Smith.

HOME ARTS

Although today's emphasis has shifted from skill in cooking to ease in calculation, home arts still occupies an important part in the curriculum. Euclid's course includes not only the basic skills of cooking and sewing, but also a chance to put them to practice in a fictional home unit.

Concentration is the key to a straight seam.

"I don't care what Heloise says, we'll do it this way."

"There must be some reason he asked me to check under the hood."

The printing presses on.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

Industrial arts develops within the student manual skills and craftsmanship. He learns how to change crude materials into objects of beauty and value. As he plans a design for the object which he intends to make, he utilizes his knowledge of tooling, takes into account the machines available to him, and allows for his own ability to use them.

In each of the varied courses, his skills are refined. In metals he learns techniques of welding. In drafting he develops the basic skills of industrial drawing. Automotives provides a chance for the student to develop familiarity with a complex machine and to develop feeling towords its inner-workings. He must become part of the machine with which he works.

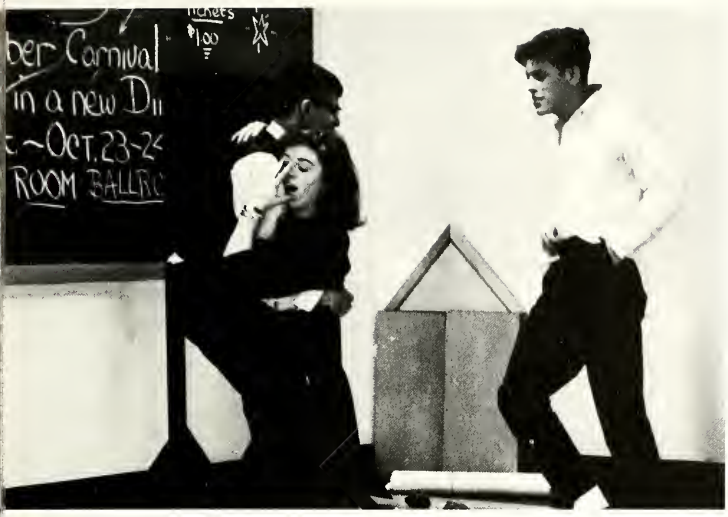
MUSIC

Through the years the Euclid High music department has shown music to be truly the language of emotions. Whenever the strains of the "Hallelujah Chorus" waft through the corridor with the tenors squealing to G and the alto sections a half-step flat, one may envision several faces in the chorus painfully anticipating the English test to be taken next period. When the trumpets play in adulterated unison, one can imagine a series of puffed cheeks and staring eyes indicating the musicians' conscientious attempts to remember the causes for World War I. However, despite academic pressures and mixed emotions, these students' concert performances achieve musical excellence.

ART

An art instructor does not merely teach; he helps cultivate a talent. His knowledge is not projected to the student through a read, write, and listen relationship. The projection occurs through an assimilation of ideas and technique. For the student, this process involves the independence of creativity and the task of forming subject from thought. Working under the influence of color and design, an artist becomes aware of the control that must be exercised to achieve a desired expression. While experiencing the battle of frustration vs. satisfaction, the mind learns to master the hands, which in turn master the brush.

Forming subject from thought



"Curse you, Jock Dalton. If you don't unhand her, what then?"

DRAMA

(Turn down stage and cross to chair center left.) The stage direction is a colorless and mechanical guide to drama.

(Look dreadfully shy and embarrassed.) The actor gropes for the security of a definite characterization and the illusion he must create.

(Slap him on the neck affectionately.) The movements make intangible emotion physical.

In drama class the student learns the techniques necessary to understand a script, casting imitation into the realm of imagination.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Here we stand: the tall, the angular, the squatty, the lean, and the slack, a disorganized variety of shapes hastily stuffed into blue and white uniforms, awaiting the gym class that will transform us into a regiment of powerful bronze gods. We dream of grandeur—to be King of the Mountain. "Number off!" The Golden Apollo image fades to the 4/4 count of "Go, You Chicken-fat, Go."

ADJUSTED CURRICULUM

The adjusted curriculum provides a course of study designed to satisfy the needs of the student who is unable to achieve in our standard educational program. It creates a learning situation in which the student can acquire practical skills and knowledge.

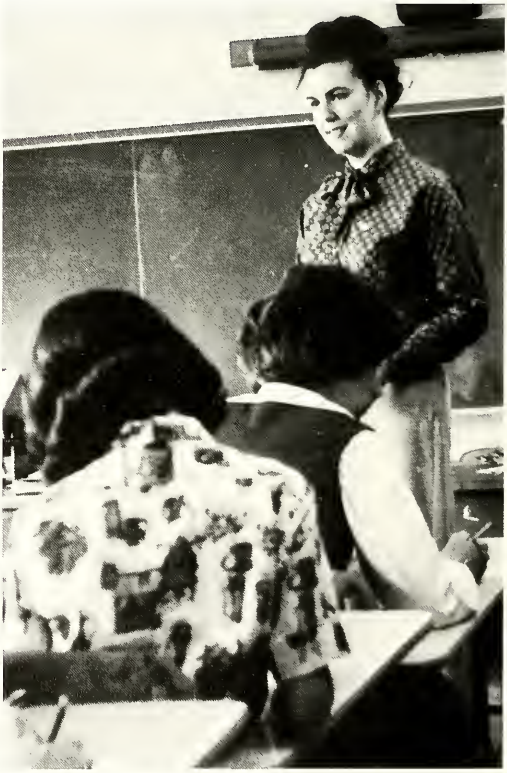
READING IMPROVEMENT

See Sally read. See her read faster—faster and with more understanding as a result of the reading improvement program available to Euclid students. Stressing speed with comprehension, reading improvement helps not only the slow reader, but also the conscientious student who realizes the value of increasing his reading skills.

JOURNALISM

The journalism class, a writer's workshop, gives creative people a chance to express and develop the seeds of their genius. The students try their hand not only at factual, "newspaper" writing, but many times are given an excuse for writing fiction; and when their friends ask, "A play? What did you write a play for?" they can reply, "Oh, I had to. It was a journalism assignment."

Good note-taking is essential to journalism.



The Shadow-scope forces increased reading speed.

DRIVING

When insurance companies began dropping their rates for youthful drivers with proper instruction, the enrollment in driving rose to the saturation point. Among all the subjects Euclid offers, this one semester course is the only one distinguished by a waiting list. The excitement of each day's narrow escapes, the thorough instruction, and the lower insurance premiums have proven irresistible to any student sixteen or older.

"That's fine; now tomorrow let's remember to release the emergency brake."

"Mom" typifies the spirit of the E-Room.

E-ROOM COORDINATOR

As the new "mom," a very patient Mrs. Martinsen experienced the various, never-ending antics of Euclid's E-Room patrons and still survived in good humor. Her personality was reflected in a casual as well as spirited atmosphere. After precious hours, enhanced by the melodious strains of "Chug-a-Lug" and other musical masterpieces, she closed-up shop in just enough time to hurry home and cook supper.

Although Mr. Yokum is seldom seen anywhere except at the end of the office corridor, posters and job lists project his presence and advice throughout the school.

Nurses: Mrs. Helen Wise, Mrs. Yolanda Kozlowski

NURSES

Down the gym corridor turning at the fifth door on the right passes one of sixty students who go to the nurse's office on any given day. Some are emergency cases who will be treated and sent home. Others will argue for aspirin only to find that state law prohibits their obtaining it.

Secretaries (L to R): Mrs. Boyer, Mrs. Herrick, Mrs. Edwordsen, Mrs. Maaswinkel, Mrs. O'Neill, Mrs. Cickavage, Miss Pintar, Mrs. Terlep, Mrs. Bending, Mrs. Sbracco, Mrs. Stein.

SECRETARIES

Serving as the human element between automation and education, Euclid's secretaries provide organization to the functional aspects of the school. They are also people with the answer to such questions as the whereabouts of Mrs. Sheats or Mr. Yocum's latest job opportunities.

TREASURER

Mr. Coatsworth's work demands organization, and for this reason his office is one of the incongruities of Euclid High. In spite of the signs reflecting confusion that surround him, he manages the orderly and precise handling of school financial affairs.

Treasurer: Mr. Glen Coatsworth.

Librarians (L to R): Mrs. Mueller, Mrs. Kodlec, Mrs. McCormack, Mrs. Hazel, Dr. Darr, Miss Probert, Mrs. Sheorer.

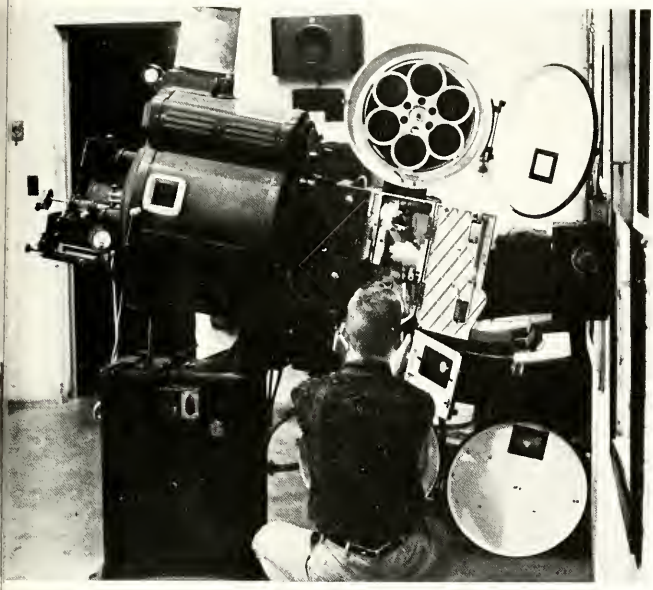
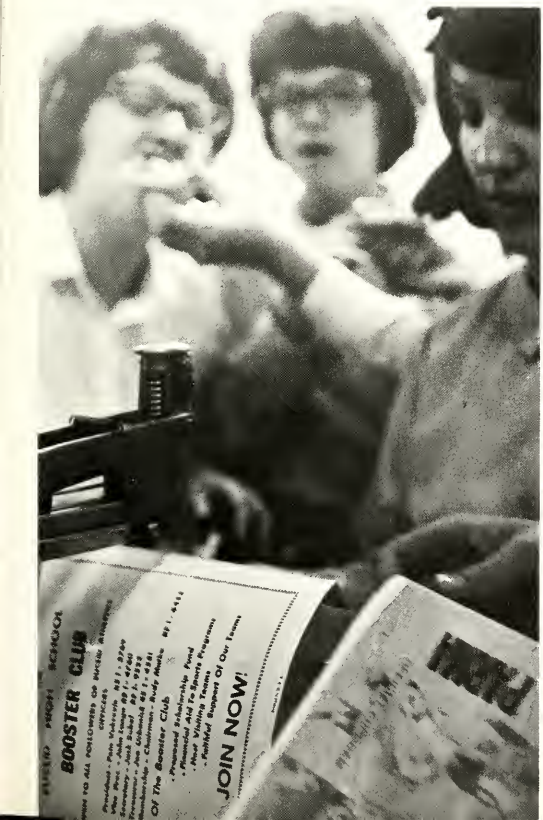
MAINTENANCE STAFF

Behind a solid, plain door is a small windowless room. Two large, cloth trash baskets stand in the center of the room. Propped along the walls are brooms and mops. Beside them sit buckets and cleaning fluids. A wash basin juts from one wall. Standing in the corner, her back turned and her body in a shadow, a short woman stretches to reach a rag. Having grasped it, she turns, picks up a pail of water, and scurries from the room; the lights go out, and the door closes.

ACTIVITIES





In an immense school where each student has become little more than a six-place number or the second heavy-eyed face in row three, a degree of creativity in academics is likely to be sacrificed for the expediency of standardized tests, workbooks, and texts. Every student adopts an attitude of partial conformity: each girl wears the same bulky mohair and A-line skirt; each boy talks of horsepower and cubic inches. Regimentation approaches a zenith. A formula defies the imagination. It is real and present, and the classroom tends to become such a formula.

With the end of the tenth period, the system reverses itself. The myriad of notices posted daily on the main bulletin board exert a compelling force, altering the dull-eyed scholar into an energetic laborer. After the meeting he will be exhausted and positive he is suffering from a mild form of mononucleosis, but now no activity seems too tiring. His interest catalyzes his energy. He expresses himself through singing, skiing, and poster-making.

With unbelievable speed the club rosters shift from maximum to minimum enrollment as the adolescent personality experiments and withdraws, searching for its own channel. Each fad sparks a club. The new activity attracts an enormous following which gradually deflates to an enduring core with purpose, direction, and meaning. The individual becomes a part of the club; in the individual a part of the club remains. What is an activity?—work and fun, prosperity and bankruptcy, relaxed laughter and strained silence, the block of copy in the senior index, a fingerprint of personality.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Student Council works through committees designed for various and specific purposes. With such urgent matters in mind as senior privileges, small groups gather in corners to plot.

The executive board provides ambitious leaders who set the pace and try to correlate the demands of both students and administration, e.g., boys tuck in their shirts, and the E-Room opens its doors five days a week.

Success depends upon the interest of the representatives and support of the student body. The weekly results of precious time and effort are presented in concise reports before hundreds of English students.

AMERICAN FIELD SERVICE COMMITTEE

This year the A.F.S. Student Committee was host to two A.F.S. students, Kioshi Aki from Japan and Juan Varga from Costa Rica. Before Euclid opened its doors in the fall to returning students, the committee was helping the new foreign exchange students to get acquainted with Americans and adapted to American customs. As the newcomers' interests spread to other activities, the committee turned to poster-making. Their posters publicized the annual A.F.S. movies which supplied the money for next year's students.

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA

A member of F.T.A. often exists in a state of Limbo, somewhere between the student and the teacher. Although she helps the teachers by tutoring, running errands, and occasionally substituting, the faculty still preempts her authority. This small taste of teaching is tantalizing, but that is the purpose of the club. Each girl's interest is kept alive with her goal squarely in front of her while she waits for the day when she too will be writing hall passes.

FUTURE NURSES CLUB

Future Nurses Club members can be found scattered widely throughout the school and community—assisting in the clinic, working at the hospital, and participating in the Red Cross. However, humanistic rewards are not the only thing responsible for their active ties. Each task prepares them further for their chosen profession and places them a few points nearer the coveted F.N.C. pin.

FUTURE BUSINESS LEADERS OF AMERICA

The click and rattle of a typewriter and a ledger's endless columns are familiar to the business major. Classes introduce the mechanics of bookkeeping, typing and shorthand. F.B.L.A. supplements these skills with practical opportunities for their use. Speakers and typing pools characterize this club, an organization that provides a preparation for a future business career.

DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION CLUB OF AMERICA

As a part of a national organization, the Distributive Education Club of America (D.E.C.A.) appeals to the business oriented student and enables him to acquire practical experience by working as a salesclerk for a local employer.

STUDENT SUPPLY STORE

Five minutes before the first period class! The student shoves his way through the throng in front of the door splotched with paper signs announcing pens, notebooks and typewriting paper. He quickly looks at the swarm of book titles around him. After grabbing a copy of Cyrano de Bergerac, he goes to the counter, picks up a few pencils, and asks for two blue books. The girl behind the counter hands him one blue book saying, "Sorry, we only have one left." She takes his copy of Cyrano and stamps it. "That will be 65¢." The cash register rings, and the buyer takes his change and rushes down the corridor and up the stairs to his class.

CO-OP STUDENTS

Credit should be given to distributive education as one of the most sensible programs at E.H.S. Co-op students lead double lives in which classroom training is applied in part-time employment. Practical experience in pleasing both boss and teacher plus old-fashioned effort and ambition provide the business-minded person with ample preparation for a successful career.

Concert Band Row 1 (L to R): Peggy Wittenmyer, Marilyn Surtz, Judy Coolidge, Diane Bryon, Barb Ward, Gayle Wilson, Anita Coblitz, Sandy Skrlj. Row 2: Poula Redding, Sonja Skrlj, Ron Lewis, Sue Reider, Joyce Yerty. Row 3: Terry Skrjanc, Mary Lou Stelzer, Jill Janda, Pam Scheurman, Jane Holloway, Lewis Fioritto, Rich Baldini, Tom Allen, Dave Schaser, Pat Gingell, Harry Dickman, Tom Renninger, Tim Campbell, Linda Holly, Bill Baillie, Kathy Hayes, Sally Beutell, Sheryl Tucci, Sharon Evans, Jean March. Row 4: Trudy Tolar, Diane Karrer, Jan Tuckerman, Mike Savarin, Kathy Hunter, Cathy Wassil, Walter Bubley, Nick Perencevich, Dave Huncharek, Neil Blasse, Burks Oakley, Joel Sarich, Dudley Prisel, Tom Holloway, Dave Kurrent, Paula Kuchling, Art Yerty, Bill Hitty, Al Miklavic, Randy Kuznik, Pat Meighan, Ron Abroms, Jack Strok, Chuck Mallue. Row 5: Lucie Oliverio, Carol Diehl, Glenn Miller, Linda Scheibel, Darlene Morgan, Judy Whitney, Director; Mr. Dale Harper, Juan Vargas, Jim Kurrent, Bruce Baumgardt, Bill Vodnal, George Bilyk, Dennis Sutton, Warner Lindquist, Bill Millar, Fred Cooper, Tom Pavlik, Bill Srnick, Dave Robb, Tom Mitchell, Tom Campbell, Tom Paine, Ron Cooney, Tim Mosek, Mark Steindler, Lee Pereksta.

CONCERT BAND

The members of the Concert Band exist in a maze of challenges and sixty-fourth note cadenzas. This steady flow of impossible scores is supplemented by the diverse activities in the band room. The extremes of frivolity and serious musical study provide the means and stimuli for excitng as well as exacting performances.

In the name of Alloh, Christ, Moses . . . and Mr. Harper.

ORCHESTRA

The sound of string instruments dominate the melody as three times a week orchestra members combine efforts for symphonic tone. Music such as the highlights from "Porgy and Bess" can achieve the appropriate depth through the full range of sound afforded by an orchestra. Whether participating in annual festivals or the spring musical, the orchestra is a blend of talent and diligent practice: a formula for quality.

Mr. Harper counsels Sue on a revision.

The orchestra fiddles its Time oway.

Orchestra Row 1(L to R): Sue Perka, Amy Picciano, Dawn Kepetz, Gail Booth, Mary Ellen Jaklic, Glenn Forsythe, Martin Francis. Row 2: Cecile Rinaldi, Sharon Tharp, Janet Basa, Linda Herak, Pam Massen, Dan Watkins, Terry Skrjanc, Pam Scheurman, Ron Abrams, Mary Lou Stelzer, Anita Coblitz, Marilyn Surtz, Peggy Wittenmeyer, Bill Baillie, Barb Gilles, Diana Glick. Row 3: Jim Schutte, Richard Dvorak, Bill Smith, Judith Gasper, Margarate Pagradis, Jo Ann Hart, Luba Hadima, Dave Wilber, Neil Blasse, Harold Prasek, Lee Pereksta, Harvey Ruben, Tom Payne, Dave Schaser, Jean March, Dave Pultoric, Bob Rose, Jan Smeker, Marcia Mamrack. Row 4: Jim Kurrent, Bruce Baumgardt, Randy Kuznik, Patrick Mann, George Carter, Tom Pavlik, Jane Stahl, Sue Williams, Director Dale Harper.

Dove and Tom—blowing and bowing.

Concentration—the key to a fine performance.

CHORAL MASTERS

A mutual desire to sing and to sing superbly unifies the Choral Masters. Working as a closely knit group, it strives for a perfection in harmony and rhythm and for an intangible tone quality. Climaxing a half year's work was a unique and lively Christmas Concert which was enjoyed as much by the students and teachers as by the choir itself.

Choral Masters Accompanists (L to R): Laura Kempert, Cecily Hunt, Phil Beining.

VOCAL MUSIC

Once upon a time a song was merely sung, but no longer. It is coaxed, yelled, and pounded to perfection by Mr. T. It is made tangible as the walrus and the carpenter pantomine their quest for oysters. Striking costumes and unique lighting compliment the song. Then the mood changes and a melody is flung madly about the stage in a wild search for mistletoe. Between performances normalcy exists, and the cycle of singing and interpretation resumes.

Sophomore Girls Choir (L to R) Row 1: Donna Yapko, Barb Widmar, Margaret Dayle, Linda Ullestad, Marianne Garling, Carol Heinz, Kathy Calvert, Jo Ann Svetin, Martha Wiehn, Denise Scheurman, Sharon Pawlechka. Row 2: Sherry Wahl, Kathy Kordet, Linda Switzer, Donna Phillips, Barb Emser, Jackie Cabala, Sharon Violanti, Carol Sestak, Judy Brown, Karen Skalaris, Kathy Krall, Becky Porter, Pat Letanasky. Row 3: Barb Bowman, Sue Albrecht, Maryann Cherney, Laura Hitchcox, Donna Capella, Cheryl Oyler, Jackie Masan, Linda Jimisan, Linda Harsey, Cookie Hudock, Carol Hayward, Alice Cercek, Linda Axford, Becky Kapferer, Cindy Grant.

CHESS CLUB

Royalty will be dethroned, knights will be captured, and the clergy will be martyred and sacrificed as armies of red and white grapple. The chess team plots these masterpieces of circumvention, designing triumphant mental attacks on a chessboard battlefield.

"What I want to know is — what am I doing here?"

POLITICAL AFFAIRS

Election Day approached. For Euclid's election, P.A.C. hustled about obtaining election booths, forming Democratic and Republican committees, and organizing campaigns with rallies and posters. In the aftermath a movie was shown on the growth of the Communist Party, and a speaker came to discuss the rebuilding of the Republican Party.

WORLD AFFAIRS

Interest in world happenings and our country's role in them characterizes a member of the World Affairs Club. Through meetings and various other functions, the club explored the many facets of the international scene. An interesting schedule of lectures and discussions, highlighted by the International Banquet in February, helps the member comprehend the significance of the kaleidoscopic events of the modern world.

World Affairs Club (L to R) Row 1: Bill Millar, President; Nora Piper, Secretary; Mary Lou Strekal, Treasurer; Bonnie McArthur, Vice President. Row 2: Jan Hribar, Kathy Callahan, Marguerite Ehlert, Jan Brooks, Ellen Fike, Kathy Hunter, Jan Heinlein, Amy Trommetter, Marge Czaplicki, Sharyn Harrison, Mike Palko. Row 3: Sponsor, Mr. Raymond Hively, Mike Harris, Linn Canley, Marsha Dunker, George Barabas, Jane Holloway, Kathy Fugina, Nancy DeLost, Wayne Rohricht, Dan Praznovsky. Row 4: Sherry Salisbury, Cheryl Brown, Luba Hodakievic, Robin Alexander, Sandi Cable, Olly Koger, Jane Musick.

SCIENCE SEMINAR

Science Seminar has become a thriving organization in which the scientifically oriented student finds refuge from the battered English book. The seminar meets once a week on Wednesday evening and functions with informality uncommon to the classroom. The student casts aside thoughts of work and finds instead a learning situation in which his primary interest may develop more casually.

DRAMA WORKSHOP

The stage glooms brown-black. In a well of green light a girl simulates the growth of a seed through the movement of her own body. Around the rim of the well the dark faces of her classmates watch her as the cabalistic music of Debussey settles over the circle. Through this exercise, the girl awakens to her inabilities. She must overcome her awkwardness, conquer her inhibitions, and deepen her sensitivity. This interpretation is the start of her own dramatic maturation.

The hysteria of an angry child meets the hostile complacency of a "doll."

STAGE CREW

The stage crew produces the visual illusion that surrounds the drama. The crew members dwell in the recesses of the stage, emerging as production dates close in to hammer, saw, paint, size, adjust lights, and stencil. Technical efforts climax in a disastrous dress rehearsal, frenzied corrections, and a smooth performance in which the technical work at last becomes an integral part of the show.

MATH CLUB

In an isolated corner of the third floor, there is a classroom where at 3:40 p. m. on Tuesdays, many of the laymen's undisputed truths are suspended. Two and two don't always equal four, and a piece of paper is likely to sport only one side. Wednesday-morning-scholars sometimes find an unwieldy problem sprawling over the blackboard and come to the conclusion that a computer spent the night. Actually there is nothing mysterious about the procedures — logic is the province of all men.

Math Club (L to R): Eric Hertfelder, Dave Swaddell, Ken De Laat, Laurie Harris, Bill Somers, Martin Francis, Jan Hribar, Anita Coblitz, Harvey Goertz, Ray Frank.

FOREMAN'S CLUB

The industrial arts teacher cannot immobilize his students neatly in assigned seats or personally watch over each step in the long path to the finished product. However, most of the skills he teaches are potentially dangerous and require the very supervision he cannot give. The solution is simple. Some students, superior in skill and responsibility, are chosen as assistant instructors. They must walk the precarious path between student and teacher and carry the responsibility for another's safety; yet, any shop boy is honored to become a foreman.

MOVIE CLUB

During his lunch period, the Euclid student must find amusement to dissolve the frustrations of the morning. He may seek diversion in the library, the E-Room, or at the noon movies. Silence and extended conversation only create further stress. Therefore, after eliminating the library and E-Room, the student relies on the Movie Club to amuse him. Many students are indebted to this club for preserving good mental health.

AD CLUB

Prodded by the hoarsely jovial commands of Vacc+, the ad club members stamp and punch their way through the Friday night crowds. The motive is spirited, the method effective. Observe the red and green EUCLID that labels the back of every hand.

CAMERA CLUB

Good pictures are rarely taken accidentally. A conscientious photographer equips himself with precise knowledge of his camera and the various techniques necessary in succesful photography. The time and effort he spends are motivated by his interest, supplemented by his imagination, and complemented when his candids display an artistic quality.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

Gasping for breath, the roving guard intercepts a pass. Someone yells, "Shoot, shoot!", and in a frenzied burst of excitement the ball darts past the basket and over the backboard.

Zero-zero. Side out. Zero-zero. Side out. Zero-zero . . . The volleyball game continues in this manner until a deluge of ear-piercing shrieks announces a point.

With a tremendous swing, the hockey stick makes contact. The little ball hurtles forward, hits a knee, and careens into the goal, followed by cries of anguish and delight.

The Girls' Athletic Association provides its members with practice that builds skills to supplement their abundance of spirit.

Girls spring into action . . .

. . . in after-school G.A.A. competition.

GIRLS' LEADERS CLUB

With a loafer on one foot, a bobby sock and sneaker on the other, the girl walks self-consciously down the hall. No, she has not suffered mental collapse. She is enduring the membership rites of the Girls' Leaders Club, an organization known for its development of leadership qualities and its mania for warm-up exercises. Next year, that new girls' leader will be an aide to the Physical Education Department as she takes attendance, referees games, and enthusiastically leads her class through "jumping-jacks" and "fanny-scoots." For now, however, she will have to be content with kneeling in the E-Room to sing "Jingle Bells."

WAI NAPOLO

"Happiness is a dry towel after practice. Dry hair is comforting, too. Someday I'll do the senior solo. If we can't have initiations, then, by George, we'll have parties. Look, I'll teach you to swim before the end of this six weeks, or my name isn't . . ." Euclid's Swim Club follows a simple formula: cultivate talent, teach techniques, blend in perfection, add large amounts of assorted fun, and soak all year.

Ski Club (L to R) Row 1: Erik Carlson, Dave Zura, Al Olgiate, Donna Malz, Rosemary Czohara, Mary Cooney, Connie Coopers, Denise Ray, Betsy Foy, Joyce Chisholm, Betty Johnson, Beth Knox, Karen Henderson, Rosanne Beni, Kathy Vernon, Linda Price, Sandy Deere, Karen Weseli, Robin Alexander, Pat Mulhall, Sandi Cable, Sharon Gerl, Cathie McGraw, Linda Akraboff, Becky Pate, Elizabeth Hohs. Row 2: John Curtis, Karen MacDonald, Larry Grigsby, Karen Baur, Linda Glicker, Kathy Troop, Carol Zaorski, Ellie Vincent, Marcy Mamrack, Sharon Tharp, Debbie Wallace Cordon, Pat Bashel, Carol Whittaker, Carol Bell, Karen Bensa, Alice Grdanc, Lyn Karlan, Linn Canley, Oralee Tyler, Sandy Schwabauer, Peggy Wittenmyer, Lais Dodds, Madeline Bir, Linda Bluhm. Row 3: Neil Wagner, Andi Daskivich, Shirley Papalka, Carol Znider, Joyce Yanchar, Nancy Burich, Tom Reed, Betsy Gaydos, Sandy Carpenter, Marion Schwarz, Marty Schwarz, Carole Kapel, Romaine Penkala, Mary Jo Camella, Jo Anne Miklavic, Bonnie Marincic, Michele Kmet, Kathy Butt, Kris Carter, Sue Breitsch, Linda Minnillo Marilyn Perko, Jan Walfenberg, Judy Emmert, Judy Howe, Mike Harris. Row 4: Barbette Davidson, Betty Preston, Don Miller, Jeff Papalko, Phil Parkhurst, Doug Lilley, Brigette Depretis, Bill Kelley, Wayne Gould, Bruce Blumenstein, Gary Zola, Denny Race, Jim Dodonte, Rollin Yanchar, Terry Trebec, Ken Rowe, Len Brazee, Jim Miller, Al Podboy, Chris Jochum, Ron Sterling, Ray Frank, Craig Boehlke, Char Hildebrand, Peg Hocevar, Elaine Gibson, Mary Lou Strekal.

SKI CLUB

Late fall converts a huge portion of the student body into a collection of ardent weather watchers. Depending on the condition of the snow, the fledgling skiers alternate between wild elation and dark reproach. Dick Goddard's weather report replaces "Bonanza" as their favorite program until at least a foot of good hard snow covers all of Mt. Chalet, and Saturday morning's excursion is assured.

FOLK CLUB

Students with a high degree of interest in folk lore and folk songs find the newly formed Folk Club appealing. The club sings a folk song, then explores its origin. A meeting consists of strummed guitars, a history lesson, and strained vocal chords.

Folk Club Officers (L to R): Sherry Salisbury, Secretary; Kathy Callahan, Treasurer; Tim Tryon, President; Ken Kucharski, Vice-President.

SPIRITS CLUB

The mighty paper clip badges reigned supreme as Euclid's spirit-makers filtered through the student ranks with enthusiasm in tow. Theirs was a Pied Piper's battle cry, and like effervescent newsboys, they distributed decorative literature suggesting such victory tactics as "KILL." Sprite and sparkling on Fridays, "secret" for the rest of the week, the Spirits Club continued to be the mainstay of our "blue and gold."

SPECTRUM

Those who shun clubs with specific purposes often find refuge under the glittering generalities of the Spectrum Club. No one can dispute the broad appeal of its purpose: to provide creative, fanciful, and healthful fun. Beginning with the annual Halloween masquerade, the year's activities are left to the caprice of the club members.

NATIONAL

HONORY SOCIETY

An hour passes as the N.H.S. secretary's low and steady voice reads a scroll of new inductees. The roll is called; the candles are lit; the pins are nervously fastened. Solemnity surrounds the initiation of N.H.S. members, occasionally interrupted by an ecstatic giggle, a surprised shriek, or a sigh of relief. Realizing that recognition is a small but necessary part of honor, N.H.S. accords membership to outstanding students of the junior and senior classes. Personal character, leadership ability, scholastic achievement, and service are prerequisites for the acquisition of that highly regarded gold pin.

LETTERMEN'S CLUB

Being a letterman glorifies physical talents. Being in Lettermen's Club requires something more than physical prowess. It requires a desire to serve, a desire to participate in activities beneficial to the school and athletic department.

NATIONAL FORENSIC LEAGUE

Rising at 4 a.m., the speaker boards a station wagon. The only coherent idea emerging from his mind is the thought of the balance of points needed for the coveted N.F.L. pin. Soon the incoherence of early morning is replaced by an enthusiasm for forensic activity. The day fills with new trophies, disappointments, and important experiences in mental organization and poise.

INTERNATIONAL

QUILL AND SCROLL

The I.Q.S. induction is a moment of reconciliation as well as recognition. Normally feuding publications gather amiably, agreeing that probably all that is "Survey-ed is true," speculating that perhaps Euclidian will again be "glorious," and accepting the poetry and "love" offered by Eucuyo. In this felicitous atmosphere, newly-inducted students receive small gold pins and membership to an organization that honors all phases of high school literary achievement.

EUCUYO

They still accepted vague, symbolic poetry. They still printed every angry young man's verse, the rhyme of the many individuals that follow the unpunctuated line of e. e. cummings. However, this year's Eucuyo went on 8½" x 11" paper, making more space for the original literature of the school — and the Eucuyo staff.

SENIOR SCANDAL

Each year, the infamous and absurd of the senior class are collected and mimeographed to form the Senior Scandal, a stapled volume of sophisticated gossip. This exclusive publication not only predicts the future, but also brings to mind the gay and sometimes embarrassing escapades of yesteryear. Girls who would rather forget the days of bobby socks and pigtails wince at grade school pictures, while some unsuspecting victim discovers he has the largest feet in Euclid High.

Well, honey, I think I'll be taller than you if I put my coat on.

SURVEY EDITORIAL STAFF

The Survey staff is the most ostentatious of publications staffs at Euclid. It is a well-known fact that the Survey office has become a sanctuary for frustrated interior decorators. With apparent indifference the staff sports the dream of every other publication group, a huge window. One cannot help but have a vague idea that the newspaper staff deserves this luxury. One might rationalize that the quality of the school newspaper is responsible in part for this good fortune. Someone is absolutely correct. The Survey won the All-American and the Americana awards. And so as the sunlight streaming in through the window dims with the late hours, surrounded by warm fellowship and pop art, the '65 Survey staff prepares for another bi-weekly deadline.

Eileen Arnold and Cherie Bartos, Survey Co-Editors, supervise their staff from the outside.

SURVEY

BUSINESS STAFF

Selling and distributing newspapers comprise the primary tasks of the Survey Business Staff. The year opens with a difficult and limited selling period. After this period has ended, the distributing schedule ollows the staff to find time for non-Survey activities. These include sponsorship of the All-School Porty and publication of the football ond basketball programs.

EUCLIDIAN

BUSINESS STAFF

The activity of the Euclidian Business Staff centers around a tipsy cabinet of varnished pigeonholes, ill-fitting doors, and marking tape found in an office corner. Here lie the threads of communication that span split schedules and attacks of flu with scrawled messages and forgotten phone calls. The system is efficient but delicate. A slammed door is likely to fall off it's hinges entirely and a lost name tag can mean a job undone. The "cabinet" is not infallible; it, like the staff, functions by interest alone.

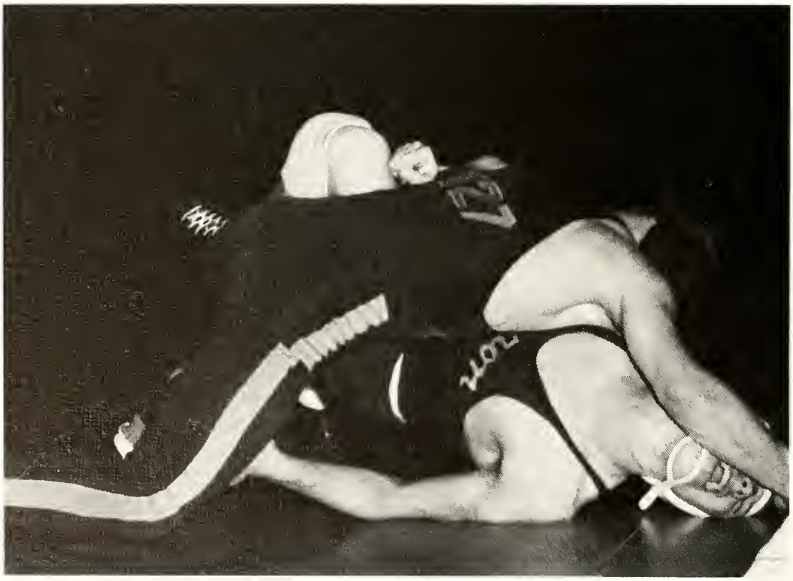
SPORTS



With his mind man advances civilization. With his body man advances himself individually, raising an ideal for all men. Contrasting sharply to the artificiality of equations and words, the signs of mental progress, the signs of physical progress are expressions familiar to anyone. The grimace of a wrestler, the intent gaze of a player making a foul shot, the taut features of a runner catching a sharp breath all express hope for achievement and devotion to a goal. Work must begin every climb to an ideal. The athlete builds the steps to his goal on a solid foundation: steady practice.

During the desolate, "after-school" period from four to six o'-clock, the runner jogs along the barren corridors, the small, muffled "bomps" of rackets hitting tennis balls rise above the semi-silence of Memorial Park; the football player yells to a teammate, throws a pass and turns his head to look beyond the trees at the houses, their windows yellowing with light as evening approaches.

Hard work is not an end in itself, however. Nothing is truly achieved without satisfaction, for satisfaction defines the level of achievement. A touchdown, a basket, a pin, a race won, a record broken are all accompanied by satisfaction and reward. Each grimace, each frown is complemented by a smile or a calm look of pride when the goal is finally reached.

VARSITY FOOTBALL

The Panthers lost their opening game to rival St. Joe, then picked up momentum, led the L.E.L. in the battle for first place, and with the crown on their fingertips, they felt it slip away at Valley Forge. There, as the game progressed, they took the lead, but lost it and the game and the crown.

The season was finished. Spit on the ground, kick the dirt, and try to forget.

Statistically, we outplayed even those teams which outscored us. An uninjured end or lineman could have made the difference, but . . .

Rebounding from a slow start, the kittens defeated three out of their last four opponents to end the season on a note of optimism. Although the season had produced many disappointments, its real measure of success could not be found in the won-lost column. TRACK

During the winter months, the track team exchanges cinders for waxed tile floors and asphalt. Running inside with the smells of wintergreen and sweot trapped in the air may not be as thrilling as racing in a fresh breeze. However, by moving indoors, the team at least gets closer to the student body. Students who would never think of attending a track meet watch one as they pass through the halls, or, kept from their lockers by the hurdles, become compulsive observers.

Manamania!

TENNIS

For all those interested in obtaining a lasting tan, tennis is the team to join. Anyone can learn to master the racket. The court awaits you! Come play the game and try your luck. All you need is muscle, determination, co-ordination, stamina and a willingness to work. Think of the benefits to be reaped! During the tension of competition, you will feel alert; after your victory, you will feel proud.

BOWLING

Although bowling does not enjoy the popularity of a large school sport, it offers a unique challenge to the individual. The bowler must learn to manipulate and control the ball by judging and balancing his own force. In the absence of a noisy crowd, the sounds of the action involved are intensified. Steady steps moving forward announce the ball's release, and rolling vibrations preceed the final collision.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

Amidst a torrent of screaming, stomping, cheering and clapping, the Panthers push the ball down the court. The crowd as a whole is a huge organism bursting with excitement; but it serves as a machine for school spirit, not as a vehicle for individual expression. There, in the middle of the crowd, stands a girl with tangled hair and wide eyes, one arm raised to emphasize her cheers. She comes to the games regularly, like attending church. She knows nothing about basketball except that it's an indispensable emotional purgative. In the front row, with hands on knees, a boy energetically follows the ball, analyzing each move, mentally condemning or praising it. In another part of the crowd, a girl sits silently listening to the thunder as the buzzer announces another victory for Euclid. As the people around her rise to leave, she sits and wonders how the Lakewood fans feel about their defeat.

JUNIOR VARSITY BASKETBALL

Fans who come to cheer the varsity basketball team often find themselves shouting for the J.V. team. Serving as a preview to the Panthers, the Kittens welcome the support of these early fans. In this respect they are more fortunate than the other J.V. teams that must seek encouragement from their own shouts and the promise of filling the empty stands when graduated to varsity.

CHEERLEADERS

AND PANTHERS

On the field, well-lit by huge matrices of bright lamps, a mass of bodies periodically bursts apart and crystalizes again. Off the field, on black cinders, the bright-eyed, beaming high-priestesses of Euclid spirit chant in ritualistic formations. With jumping and hand clapping they conjure the spirit from the crowds and transfer its energy to the team.

JUNIOR VARSITY SWIMMING

Swimmers come with varying abilities and in all sizes — adult Olympian to four-year-old wading star. Somewhere in between, floating merrily along, comes the J.V. swimmer. Not yet a strong enough swimmer for varsity, he may be experiencing his first attempts at competitive swimming. A quick glance at the record affirms this assumption; yet, this year has not been wasted. The skills acquired here will be put to proper use for a varsity swimmer.

VARSITY WRESTLING

Sixty minutes to an hour, twenty-four hours to a day, seven days within a week—basic standards of time to most students at Euclid. To a few, however, these words form vague abstractions; their weeks are measured in meals skipped, their days in miles run, and their hours in six minute bursts of strength and concentration. Physical output and endurance become the maxims of a varsity wrestler.

Coach Eckert displays fine form with his own brand of cheerleading.

WRESTLING

A J.V. anything always conjures up the image of someone quite small, not yet physically developed. Those who have in mind such an image would be horribly shocked to see the heavyweight on the J.V. wrestling team. This young wrestler carries around 225 pounds, a rather formidable task. The other J.V.'s are also full-sized. The quality they lack can only be acquired through experience, and that quality is experience.

RECREATION

We live in an age in which each hour is alloted, consecrated; to use it for something other than planned is almost sacreligious. Thus, blessed is the time when a test is cancelled, when the boss says to go home early, or when snow blocks the way to school. Relaxation lurks just within one's grasp, like the cookies on the top shelf. But suddenly . . . "Yes! He asked me to the dance – have to go shopping . . . oh, yeah, Swim Club tryouts . . . see you Friday . . ."

Anticipation often consumes more time than an actual event, as an already busy person becomes bothered with extra details and sometimes annoying "butterflies." But all the tension–all the rushing–seems necessary food for the spirit. Man is not content just to eat, sleep, and walk around. He seeks activity to provide colorful variation from his routine. What is in the human nature to imitate has to be satisfied; hense, play tryouts loom as exciting obstacles to be overcome. Likewise, that which stimulates laughter cannot be stifled. It finds an outlet at a party, a basketball game, or in a race to the bus stop. It devours a banana split, thrives amidst confetti, and lingers in the mind like the last strains of a folk song. For some, this activity means fulfillment or perhaps companionship; others call it a release and spell it F-U-N.

HOMECOMING

Homecoming begins in September with a flurry of expectations and committee meetings. In the minds of student council members it quietly grows — a date, a time, a theme, some decorations — until suddenly it bursts into a rash of posters and shopping and saving on lunch money. Girls assume a desperate smile as they wonder when he'll finally ask, and boys begin to ease their fathers into parting with the car. With excited erraticism the night approaches, and then in a flash of "Black Magic" it is gone, leaving only memories, withered flowers, and crumbling decorations.

Homecoming — Euclid's pride during the half-time performance

— the noise and warm spirit of the bonfire

— the magic of music for two people

— a queen and her escort

— an A-O.K. smile

— and a pretty girl

AH WILDERNESS!

Through Ah Wilderness!, Eugene O'Neill took a nostalgic look into the past as it should have been. The warmth and humor of this play, his only comedy, contrasted uncomfortably to the painful anomaly of his own life. The Millers replaced memories of his own family, and scenes such as the Muriel-Richard love scene gave him the innocent, awkward preludes to adult life that he never had. The warmth and nostalgia of Ah Wilderness! shall be long remembered.

Another heroic adventure in the secret life of Walter Mitty

THURBER'S CARNIVAL

Walter Mitty's rusty bifurcated invertibrator and an invisible unicorn lay stashed in a corner of the E-Room lodged behind a cardboard pop-art garden. Suddenly, through the direction of Mr. Robuck and the practice of a handful of talented students, they became part of a sophisticated farce, Thurber's Carnival. The play explored two new dimensions of drama — one in humor and another in theater presentation. The creative wit of Thurber achieved the first, and the theater-in-the-round accomplished the second.

WINTER FESTIVAL DANCE

Transplanted from early February, the Winter Festival made its appearance in March as the Spring Sports Dance, filling the breech between Homecoming and the Junior Dance and Senior Prom. Once again Student Council got roped into sponsorship. They formed the decoration committee, which in turn corralled a herd of cardboard horses. A merry-go-round of last minute activity, climaxed by the problem of hanging streamers without making holes in the plaster or marring the woodwork, converted the E-Room into a carousel. Polka-dotted pintos with tangled yarn manes pranced quietly at each column of the dance floor.

And we paid $20 at Arthur Murray's far this?

If You Work For A Man . . .

"If you work for a man, in heaven's name, work for him! If he pays you wages that supply your bread and butter, work for him--speak well of him--think well of him--stand by him--and stand by the institution he represents.''

"I think if I worked for a man I would work for him. I would not work for him a part of the time, and the rest of the time work against him. I would give an undivided service or none. If put to the pinch, an ounce of loyalty is worth a pound of cleverness.''

In the summer of 1964 the '65 Euclidian was just a transient idea in the minds of my staff. In the fall the idea took a unique and definite form. But the full realization of the meaning of the '65 Euclidian was not conceived until March 22—the last deadline. No one at our summer planning parties could have predicted all that was to be involved in producing this yearbook: an immense amount of time and work, five battles of aspirin, intimate friendships, cold suppers, unfinished homework, and sunny Saturday afternoons spent in The Office. March 22 signaled the end of a truly hectic, Euclidian life.

The Euclidian advanced from an idea to a finished product only through the aid and moral support of a great many people. My acknowledgements extend first to the administration and especially to the maintenance staff without whose understanding many a deadline would have been missed. Financial matters are of great importance to a yearbook production. The Business Staff financed the entire Euclidian and maintained a balanced budget. Thanks Mr. Santos and Chuck for your fine efforts.

Through Raimar Studios, which developed most of the pictures for the yearbook, I have had the pleasure of working closely with Mr. Marrie Levine and Mr. Bill Roinen. In distressing moments they have always come through for us. Thanks very much for your extra-special services.

The task of piecing together parts to produce a whole yearbook was designated to the Consolidated Graphic Arts Corporation. I want especially to thank our C.G.A. representatives Mr. Jim Parkinson and Mr. Len Wolowiec for their tremendous help and infinite amount of patience in working with my staff.

Finally, my sincere appreciation for a job well-done goes to our advisers Mr. Ronald Markwell and Mrs. Nancy Taubman. I know that their Euclidian life was as hectic as ours.

The Euclidian is out! This cry will be one of both victory and relief for my staff. It will take on a unique significance for us, but the yearbook is as much yours as it is ours. We produced it for you. We hope you enjoy it.

Sincerely,

Gail Gulbenkian
